DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is issued in response to applicant's amendment filed 3/11/05.
2. Claim Status: 1-34 are rejected.

Applicant's arguments filed 3/11/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Reilly et al. (US Patent 5,740,549).

Regarding Claims 1, 10, 17, and 24, Reilly discloses a method for a server to provide content to a client, the method comprising:

Art Unit: 2161

receiving a request from the client for one or more requested content items (see column 8, lines 19-24, Reilly);

identifying a data structure that refers to one or more further content items (see column 7, lines 50-58, Reilly) ;

modifying, by the server computer, a data structure that refers to one or more further content items (see column 8, lines 19-29, Reilly); and providing the content items referenced by the modified data structure (see column 8, lines 5-15, Reilly);

Regarding Claims 2, 11, 18, and 25, Reilly discloses a method wherein identifying the data structure, the data structure comprises a playlist (see column 7, lines 7-12, Reilly¹);

wherein receiving the request, the one or more requested content items comprises streaming media content (see column 4, lines 21-38, where as Reilly's "news feed from information transmission... AP news feed ...", is equivalent to applicant use of the phrase "streaming media", both are used to transmit data in a continues fashion, Reilly); and wherein providing the content items further comprises streaming the content items referred to by the playlist (see column 4, lines 39-49, Reilly).

Regarding Claims 3, 12, 19, and 26, Reilly discloses a method wherein identifying the data structure, the data structure comprises a first Web page specification, and the requested content comprises a second Web page specification (see column 6, lines 1-9, Reilly).

¹ Examiner interprets the category and sub category corresponds to a play list)

Art Unit: 2161

Regarding Claims 4, 13, 20, and 27, Reilly discloses a method wherein modifying the data structure further comprises adding a plurality of references to the requested content item in the data structure (see column 4, lines 39-39, Reilly).

Regarding Claims 5, 14, 21, and 28, Reilly discloses a method wherein modifying the data structure further comprises adding a plural number of references to the requested content item in the data structure, the number being indicated by the request (see column 4, lines 39-39, Reilly).

Regarding Claims 6, 15, and 22, Reilly discloses a method wherein receiving the request, further comprises receiving a variety of requests from the client, at least one subset of the variety of requests comprising respective requests to one or more different content items (see column 4, lines 50-65, Reilly).

Regarding Claims 7, 16, and 23, Reilly discloses a method wherein modifying the data structure, the data structure further comprises a placeholder that identifies a particular point in a sequence where the reference to the requested content is placed (see column 4, and 5, lines 66-67, and 1-7, respectively, Reilly²).

Regarding Claims 8, and 29, Reilly discloses a method wherein identifying the data structure further comprises creating the data structure by modifying a base data structure (see column 6, lines 46-56, Reilly).

Regarding Claims 9, and 30, Reilly discloses a method wherein identifying the data structure further comprises creating the data structure copying a base data structure (see column 10, lines 10-18, Reilly).

² Examiner interprets the step of identifying a category corresponds to a place holder.

Art Unit: 2161

Regarding Claim 31, Reilly discloses sever wherein at least a subset of the received request refer to differing content items (see column 7, lines 7-12, Reilly).

Regarding Claim 32, Reilly discloses a computer-readable medium having stored thereon a wrapper data structure comprising:

one or more first data fields, each data field containing data therein representing a respective reference to a set of content items (see Fig. 8, Category queue headers, Reilly) ; and at least one second data field containing data therein representing a respective placeholder to identify a particular point in a sequence of the one or more first data fields where a reference to a set of client requested content is to be inserted (see Fig 8, Advertisement queue, and News story queue, Reilly).

Regarding Claim 33, Reilly discloses a computer-readable medium:

wherein the data structure comprises a playlist (see Fig. 5, 222, Reilly); and wherein the content items and the client requested content are streaming media content items that are respectively identified with a Universal Resource Locator (see Fig. 2, 211, Reilly).

Regarding Claim 34, Reilly discloses a computer-readable medium:

wherein the data structure comprises a Web page(see column 13, lines 9-14, Reilly);

wherein the content items are a first set of Web page specifications (see column 13, lines 15-20, Reilly); and wherein the client requested content are one or more second Web page specifications (see column 13, lines 20-25, Reilly).

Response to Amendment

Applicant argues that Reilly fails to disclose “identifying by the server computer, a data structure.”

Examiner disagrees. Referring to Col. 27, lines 36-48, Reilly discloses the step of identifying the data structure.

Applicant argues that Reilly fails to disclose “receiving by the server computer, a request from the client computer for one or more requested content items.”

Examiner disagrees. Referring to Col. 19, lines 50-65, Reilly teaches the step of receiving by the server computer, a request from the client computer for one or more requested content items.

Applicant argues that the Reilly fails to disclose “ responsive to receiving the request:[...] modifying , by the server computer, the data structure to reference the requested content items.”

Examiner disagrees. Referring to Col. 17, lines 24-38, Reilly discloses the step of modifying , by the server computer, the data structure to reference the requested content items.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

Art Unit: 2161

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
